OneBigCD Launches Syndicated Internet Jukebox to B2B Market; Service is the First to Drive Repeat Visits to Partners' Web Sites

PR NEWSWIRE

April 26, 2000

JOURNAL CODE: WPRW LANGUAGE: English RECORD TYPE: FULLTEXT

WORD COUNT: 607

STERLING, Va., April 26 /PRNewswire/ --- OneBigCD today unveils an Internet Jukebox service that dramatically advances the way Web sites will retain their customers and attract repeat visits. The OneBigCD jukebox features "Instant Uploading" technology to enable consumers to easily convert their CD collection into an on-line collection. The consumer can then unlock the power of their personal music collection in many simple but innovative ways. Unlike other on-line jukeboxes, the OneBigCD solution is privately branded with the branding of the syndicating Web site so the consumer perceives that the jukebox is an integral part of the syndicating Web site. The OneBigCD jukebox lets the syndicating Web site "keep your customer as your customer".

"We think every consumer oriented Web site needs to include an easy-to-use Internet Jukebox. The jukebox becomes the hub of a consumer's digital music experience, and it is now possible for any Web site to have this feature without sending their customer off to another site," states Scott Eisenberg, President and CEO of OneBigCD.

The OneBigCD jukebox is also the only easy-upload jukebox designed to be in compliance with the Digital Millennium Copyright Act (DMCA). OneBigCD is working within the guidelines of the music industry associations to make sure that appropriate compensation, strong security and anti-piracy considerations are taken into account.

"Innovative technology applications do not need to be inconsistent with the stated interests of the recording industry and the artists they represent," said CEO Scott Eisenberg. "The OneBigCD team is very strong in the area of security and we are applying this expertise to provide freedom of listening without piracy."

Web site Benefits

Allowing partners to maintain their own brand, OneBigCD is a turnkey service that can be deployed from any Web site as a subordinate, "powered by" brand. Several simple methods of incorporation, requiring minimal integration effort, are available depending on a Web site's requirements. "While listening to their favorite music collection, consumers will return to OneBigCD syndicating sites approximately every hour in order to refresh their music selection. This active point of return enhances the advertising and marketing value of our partners' Web sites, while expanding customer relationships and loyalty-building opportunities," explains Eisenberg.

Consumer Benefits

Using OneBigCD, consumers can upload their CD collection and play their music online in a variety of interesting new ways. On average, users can load each CD in 5 - 10 seconds. After quickly building their personal music collection, users can rate their music and create custom playlists or utilize the OneClickMix feature, which enables the jukebox technology to create fresh play sessions by genre or artists, or base the selections on each user's ratings. After selecting their music, users are free to work on other applications or surf the web while the music plays.

About OneBigCD

Based in Sterling, Virginia, OneBigCD, Inc. provides syndicated Internet Jukeboxes to consumer oriented Web sites. This application and service allows consumers to upload, access, and play their customized music collection from anywhere they have Internet access.

OneBigCD is working to unlock the power of digital music in a controlled and fully compliant atmosphere, which supports industry compensation and anti-piracy initiatives. The executive team has significant Internet architecture and operations experience, primarily in the payments processing arena where security, availability, and scalability of systems are critical. The OneBigCD technical team has integrated this experience to provide a robust user experience as well as an advanced security framework.

OneBigCD received its Round A financing from Draper Atlantic Venture Capital in Reston, Virginia. For more information about the OneBigCD and their Internet Jukebox , visit the company's Web site at <http://www.onebigcd.com> .

The award for all-around performer goes to MusicMatch Jukebox Plus 4.5. It combines the advanced recording and file-management capabilities of higher-end programs like Siren Jukebox and RealJukebox Plus with the skin diversity and plug-in capabilities of Sonique and Winamp.

The latest version of Jukebox Plus replaces the Xing Technologies encoder with the faster and superior-sounding Fraunhofer encoder. This improvement allows the program to rip tracks from CDs at 12 times the normal speed. MusicMatch has also dropped support for Real Networks' RealAudio format in favor of Microsoft's Windows Media file format. It's not a bad switch because the program's ability to perform batch conversions makes it an excellent choice for converting large numbers of WAV or Windows Media files into MP3s. The program even supports bit-rate conversions as high as 320Kbps.

The music-library component of Jukebox Plus lets you organize audio files according to 17 different criteria, including artist, album title, and song title. A simple drag-and-drop interface allows you to add files to your playlist, and you can edit the information tags of any file to change the genre or other description to suit your taste. You can also view cover art and lyrics associated with particular MP3 files, or watch Windows Media music videos. You can even listen to broadcasts from online radio stations, a new feature in version 4.5.

At press time, only one plug-in was available: the Rio Portable Player Plug-in, which lets you connect and control the popular stand-alone MP3 players. Jukebox Plus comes with only a small selection of skins, but the controls translate well across the various interfaces. The program also deserves high marks for the common-sense layout of its components.

A free version of MusicMatch Jukebox is available; it has all the features of the $29.99 Plus version, except for CD recording at bit rates higher than 96Kbps.

Computer Shopper Best Buy April 2000

MusicMatch Jukebox Plus offers the perfect mix of features: a powerful music librarian, fast MP3 encoding, and easy access to MP3 Web sites. MusicMatch Jukebox Plus consists of detachable components that you can mix and match, or hide from view. The music librarian in RealJukebox Plus automatically sorts your MP3 music files according to their selected genres. Siren Jukebox includes two visualization screens that can be set to randomly cycle through their presets.

Rating: Five Stars Computer Shopper Best Buy

Pros: Powerful music librarian; rips at 12x speed; performs batch conversions; supports Windows Media music videos

Cons: Limited number of skins and plug-ins
